1992 and 1993 with three to four players from Spain, 1994 – 1998 reduced to the two strongest Spanish born players then: Illescas Cordoba (joint winner with Topalov 1996) and San Segundo.

* 1993 and 1996: Winner based on tie-break score (Sonneborn-Berger)

 1997: Winner after tie-break play-off: 2 Rapid games/20 min., then Armageddon Blitz (6 minutes for White, 5 minutes for Black with draw odds), Topalov got Black (by chance!), a draw after 68 moves and thus tournament winner again.

Trivia:

1997 Madrid was the first Armageddon tie-break decision in an international supertournament

Held in May. Venue: ONCE buildings in Madrid. Sponsor: «Movi line» (Mobile phone), a.o.

Record (co-)winner: Topalov, 1993, 1996 & 1997. Record participant: Salov, 6x in a row.

Oldest winner: In 1995, Viktor Korchnoi won outright at the age of 64 and two months, ahead of Salov, then ranked no. 3= of the world, in a field with seven top-25 players, including Timman and Short (both were in the mid-1990s challenger in a championship title match), Jussupow, Beliavsky, plus Judit Polgar, the tournament title defender.

Youngest winner: In 1994, Judit Polgar had her maybe most impressive tournament win (in fact, according to Chessmetrics by Sonas this was her best chess career performance), where at the age of 18 minus two months, she won ahead of four top-ten ranked players (Shirov, Kamsky, Salov, Bareev) and two top-twenty players (I. Sokolov, Tiviakov).

Miguel Illescas Cordoba, eight-time Spanish Champion, Madrid co-winner in 1996:

The 1990s saw the emergence of a new generation of players:
Illescas joined Kramnik as a second for his world championship clash with Kasparov in 2000.
Kramnik became champion and the winning partnership was restored for the 2004 defence against Peter Leko (drawn) and the 2006 reunification match with Veselin Topalov.

Valery Salov (born May 26, 1964 in Wroclaw, Poland. Russia. Resident of Spain), a forgotten player. He has not played any FIDE-rated tournaments since January 2000.

Salov was no. 3 = of the world in the January – June 1995 FIDE Elo rating list, winner of the Euwe Memorial, Amsterdam 1991 (together with Short, above 3.-4. Kasparov and Karpov, 5. Korchnoi, ten elite players), twice winner at Wijk aan Zee 1992 (with Gelfand) and again Wijk aan Zee 1997 (outright, his last big success), at Tilburg 1994 (knock-out format in classical chess, winning the final versus Bareev; semi-finalists were Ivanchuk and Karpov), at the strong Sicilian theme tournament (Lev Polugaevsky tribute for his 60th anniversary) Najdorf tournament in Buenos Aires 1994 (ahead of 2. Anand, 3.-4. Ivanchuk, Judit Polgar, 5.-6. Kamsky, Karpov, beating him with white and black (!), 7. Shirov, 8. Ljubojevic, eight players). Salov won also the 1987 Szirak Interzonal (with Hjartarson).

Salov was European Junior Champion in 1983-84.

Another great achievement for GM Salov was the third place in the closed GMA World Cup cycle 1988/89 behind only Garry Kasparov, and Anatoli Karpov (25 participants, point scoring system).

He qualified twice for the Candidates Tournament for the World Chess Championship. In the 1988 Candidates Tournament for the 1990 Classical Chess World Championship he was defeated in the round of 16 (the first match) by Jan Timman (+0-1=5). In the Candidates Tournament for the 1996 FIDE World Chess Championship Salov won his first two matches against Alexander Khalifman (+4-0=2) and against Jan Timman (+2-1=5) to reach the quarterfinals, where he was defeated in February 1995 in Sangi Nagar, India, by Gata Kamsky (+0-4=3), a brutal loss for Salov.

Salov shared first place with Alexander Beliavsky in the 1987 USSR Championship, but he lost the tie-breaker match with Beliavsky (+0-2=2), Salov gaining thus only the Silver medal.

A year later, at the 1988 USSR Championship, he finished 3rd= with Artur Yusupov, behind the joint winners Anatoly Karpov and Garry Kasparov (no play-off this time, both awarded the Gold medal).

Salov acted as assistant of Shirov for the World Chess Council Candidates Final in Cazorla in 1998, beating Kramnik, which qualified Shirov to play Kasparov. However, this match never took place..
