Initial Call for Papers

International Association for eLeadership is hosting 2020 World Congress to be held in the US on November , 2020.

We invite papers from senior academics and practitioners across a range of disciplines.

Including:-

- Communications, Education, Government IT, Health, Law, Management/Business, Political science and Sport.

The motivation underlying this Congress is the belief that developments in ICT and related fields have and will continue to change the way individuals, organizations and institutions function and work in society.

While we will organize themes around the papers submitted, possible subjects to be covered include:

- Education for eLeadership: Primary/Secondary/Tertiary
- Case studies of eLeadership
- eCommerce, eGovernance and Information Governance
- E-government, E-business and eLeadership
- Legal infrastructure required for eLeadership
- Nature and models of eLeadership
- Privacy, big data analytics and similar topics related to eLeadership
- Risk management for eLeadership, including information security.
- Social Media and eLeadership
- Specific ICT developments and eLeadership, eg Internet of Things, virtual reality, cloud computing, mobile developments, and AI
- Transformational change management and eLeadership

Prospective Authors

Submitted papers should not have been published elsewhere.

All accepted papers will be refereed through a peer review process.

In recognition of the multi-disciplinary nature of this Congress, we are presently negotiating with several international journals to publish a selection of Congress papers for a special issues on eLeadership.
