

379)  Musical notation for exercise 379. It consists of a single staff with a treble clef. The first three measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an 'x' above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, the second has a flat on the third, and the third has a flat on the fourth. The last two measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an accent (>) above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, and the second has a flat on the third.

380)  Musical notation for exercise 380. It consists of a single staff with a treble clef. The first three measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an 'x' above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, the second has a flat on the third, and the third has a flat on the fourth. The last two measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an accent (>) above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, and the second has a flat on the third.

381)  Musical notation for exercise 381. It consists of a single staff with a treble clef. The first three measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an 'x' above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, the second has a flat on the third, and the third has a flat on the fourth. The last two measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an accent (>) above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, and the second has a flat on the third.

382)  Musical notation for exercise 382. It consists of a single staff with a treble clef. The first three measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an 'x' above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, the second has a flat on the third, and the third has a flat on the fourth. The last two measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an accent (>) above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, and the second has a flat on the third.

383)  Musical notation for exercise 383. It consists of a single staff with a treble clef. The first three measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an 'x' above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, the second has a flat on the third, and the third has a flat on the fourth. The last two measures each contain a group of four eighth notes beamed together, with an accent (>) above each note. The first measure has a flat on the second note, and the second has a flat on the third.