

Gausdal Classics, 2001 – 2008 in Gausdal, Norway (GM + IM group(s), two editions in 2003!!) Chess Open since 1970, eg. Troll Masters, Peer Gynt, Eikrem Memorial, and Arnold Cup

The Gausdal Chess Festival was founded by the norwegian player and organizer Arnold J. Eikrem (1932 – 1996). In the beginning of this century, historian, politician, crime writer and master player, Hans Olav Lahlum, started out to relaunch the Gausdal Festivals with a fresh and original style of organizing chess tournaments. The eccentric multi-talent proved to be dedicated and passionate about his Gausdal Classics invitational series highlighted here.

Magnus Carlsen had his entry in an invitation tournament at the international level in a closed IM-group of Gausdal Classics in April of 2001, when Hans Olav Lahlum decided to invite him despite being unknown in the chess world at that time with an ELO rating of just 2064! Carlsen played in 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, and won the Gausdal Classics in 2007.

GM Kaido Kulaots started with 8.5/9 in the Gausdal October 2003 edition before calming down with two closing draws. He is a friend of the Carlsens. In Gausdal January 2000, he and the Carlsens shared a cabin and on the way back to Estonia he spent a night in their Lommedalen home. He borrowed the room of the eldest Carlsen daughter, and the family jokes that he was the first GM in Ellen's bed.

Anecdote from the book «Wonderboy» on Magnus Carlsen» by Simen Agdestein.

Congrats to Kaido Kulaots for an absolutely amazing underdog victory at the Aeroflot open! 19 years ago, he shared a flat with my father and I at the Gausdal tournament, and inspired an unrated 9 year old by predicting that he would one day be rated 2650

Age is just a number, and rating is just a number. Congrats to Kaido Kulaots (42 y/o, 2542 FIDE) on the biggest upset tournament win I have ever seen! Winning the Aeroflot A group as the 62nd seed ahead of 6 2700+ guys is no joke.

Kaido broke through to claim the biggest win of his career.

The top tournament of the Aeroflot Open is famously tough, and the 17th edition was no exception. It featured six 2700 players, 33 of 2600 Elo and a host of ferociously talented youngsters. Kaido Kulaots' current rating of 2542 is in fact slightly below the default 2550 cut-off point for participants.

Vladimir Kramnik recently announced his retirement at the age of 43, but today Kaido Kulaots celebrates his 43rd birthday after winning the 2019 Aeroflot Open and qualifying for his first ever classical supertournament - the Sparkassen Chess Meeting in Dortmund later the year 2019. No-one could have predicted victory for the 2542-rated 62nd seed, but it was a richly deserved triumph after the 8-time Estonian Champion beat young stars Maghsoodloo, Firouzja, Dubov and Wei Yi with the black pieces. 18-year-old Haik Martirosyan took second on tiebreaks, with Krishnan Sasikiran third.

In 2004/05, Lahlum also organised the Drammen Smartfish Chess Masters at Drammen, Norway, it was the first big international invitation tournament for GM Magnus Carlsen.

Carlsen, already a GM, sensationally beat Shirov, then a top ten player, but lost his game to 'Grandfather' Grandmaster Korchnoi, and drew the reigning Women's World Championne, Antoaneta Stefanova. Source: <https://en.chessbase.com/post/shirov-nielsen-win-drammen/6>

Aug-29-16 diagonal: Handshake GM Stefanova and GM Carlsen (scroll down):

<http://es.chessbase.com/post/drammen-carlsen-derrota-a-shirov>.

Highlight for Stefanova, an entry in an elite closed round robin tournament, at Drammen, Norway (SmartFish Masters), year-end 2004/2005: SmartFish Chess Masters \(2004\). She scored 3/9, sharing places with young Carlsen. Peter Heine Nielsen and top-seeded top ten player Alexei Shirov won at 6/9.

Carlsen beat Shirov, Shirov beat Korchnoi, Korchnoi beat Carlsen.

An international invitation tournament not only based on ELO and category average with almost always the same top ten players, but also on the Narrative: ages, gender, different styles (don't mention Khalifman), and promising players from the hosting nation. Chess careers can again have a narrative and all sports need this.

Stefanova: Women's World Chess Champion 2004-2006, number 2 ranked woman in January, April, July 2003 behind Judit Polgar (then quarterly published ELO lists). In 1992 Stefanova played at the age of 13 in her first Chess Olympiad in Manila. Majestic picture: http://files.chessblog.com/uploaded_images/Stefanova-721368.jpg.
